

Ben's Story

I wish to be an astronaut at NASA!

Ben, 12
leukemia

When Ben was seven years old, his mother noticed that he was always feeling unwell and not eating. Tests revealed that he had leukemia. He immediately started undergoing intense waves of chemo and other procedures. The family was devastated.

Ben has a keen interest in space and would one day like to be an astronaut! For his wish, he visited the Kennedy Space Center in Florida to get a taste of his imagined future. Besides meeting an astronaut and touring the facility, Ben bravely jumped into a simulator and trained for a mission to Mars. Beyond the thrill of space exploration, this wish allowed Ben and his family the chance to reconnect and make unforgettable memories together.
