National MS Society Advocacy

Why We Advocate

- Find solutions to real life problems
- Empower people living with MS
- Advocate for policies that lead to a cure
- Increase Temporary Disability Insurance
- Add acupuncture as an essential health benefit
- Share the rebate savings with patients
- Reform pre-authorization process

MS Activists, DALs, and GRAC

- MS Activists – Join the MS Activist Network and reply to our Action Alerts
- Join the District Activist Leadership program
 - Fostering a relationship with your member of Congress
- Join a state Government Relations Advisory Committee
 - Focus on state level issues

Policy & Legislative Wins

- MS has a higher incidence in military service members than in the general population. The Society estimates that nearly 70,000 American veterans live with MS.
- We have achieved $20 Million Dollars for the MS Research Program in the Department of Defense Budget. It remains the only federal research funding stream specifically for MS.
- We have led the patient voice and perspective in copay accumulator reform, step therapy reform, and non-medical switching into law.

We will cure MS while empowering people affected by MS to live their best lives

National
Multiple Sclerosis
Society

Together We Are Stronger.

Before BikeMS – The Lead In

1980 Society funds first large trial of any form of interferon (interferon alpha), stimulating interest in interferons for treating MS

1981 Identification of oligodendrocytes in MS brain with capability for regeneration of myelin

1981 First MRI pictures of a brain affected by MS, revolutionizing MS diagnosis and treatment

1982 Society partners with MS Society of Canada to convene international conference leading to standards for clinical trials in MS; the first controlled trial of natural human beta interferon in MS was an outgrowth of this meeting

40 Years ago

Laurent Fignon won his second consecutive Tour de France, beating Bernard Hinault by over 10 minutes

Greg LeMond was the first American rider to finish in the top 3

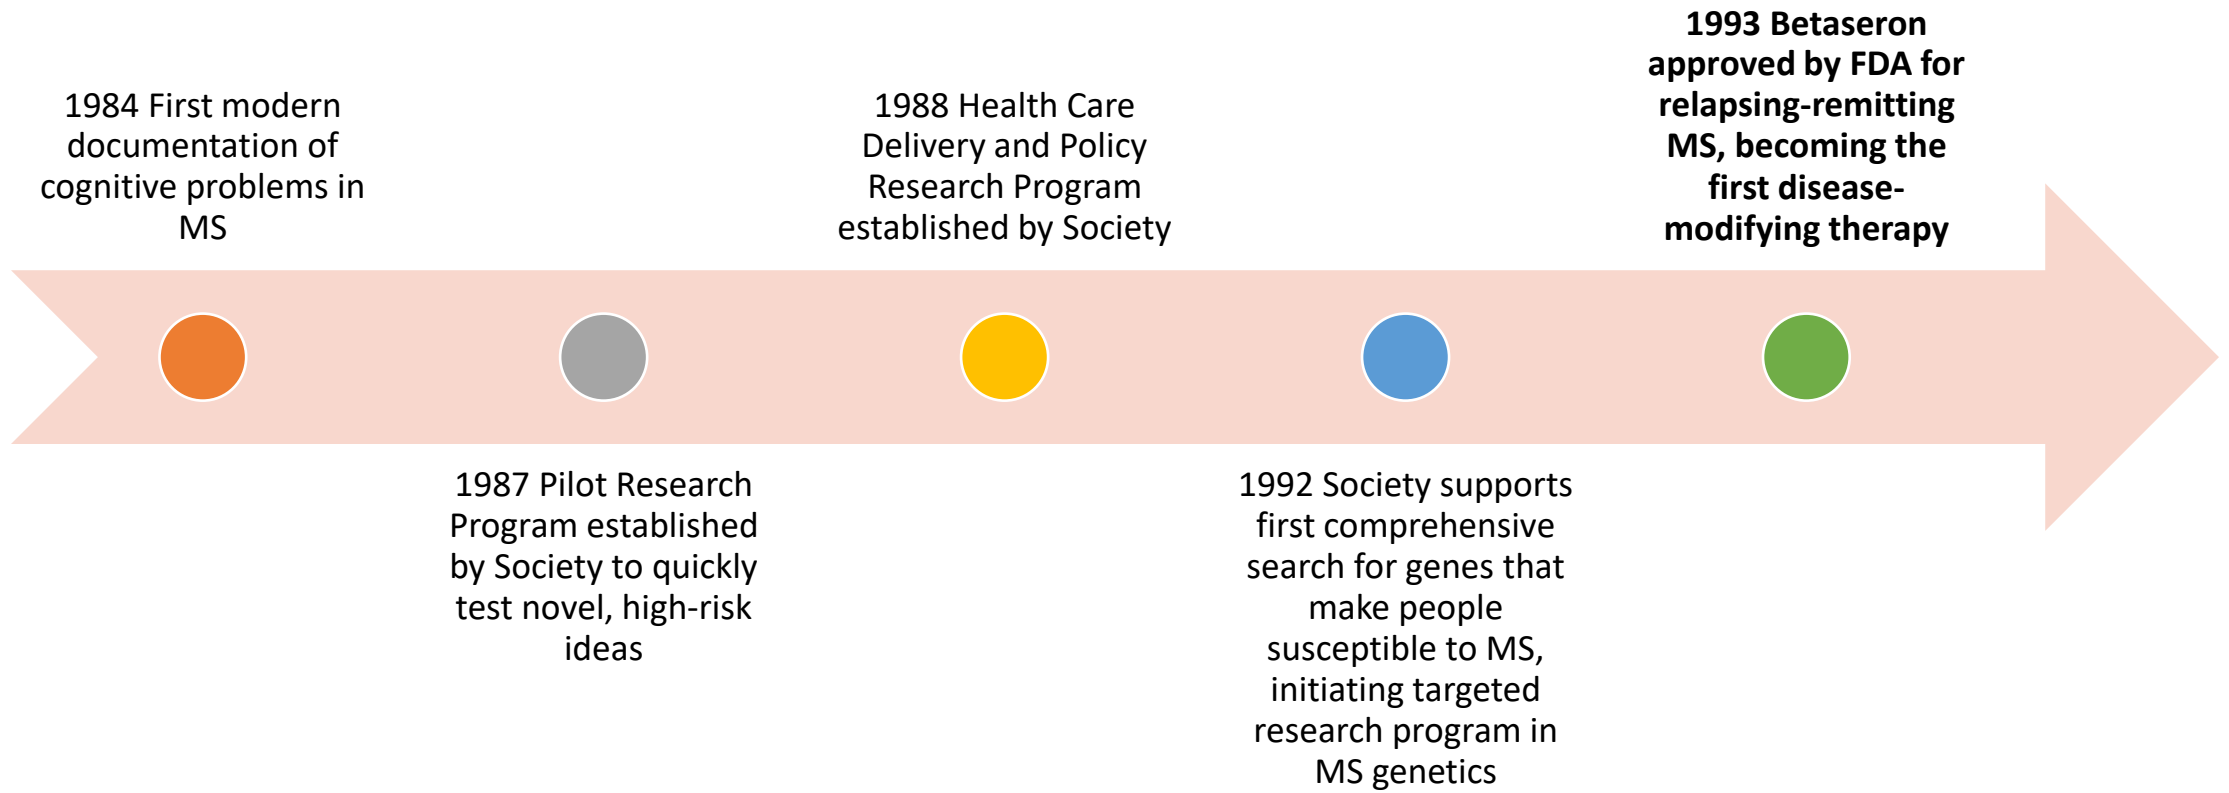

Like Fignon and LeMond, MS has climbed some big mountains such as the Alpe d'Huez, Col du Tourmalet and Col du Galibier and we'll keep riding them until we have a cure

Category 2 Climb

Category 1 Climb

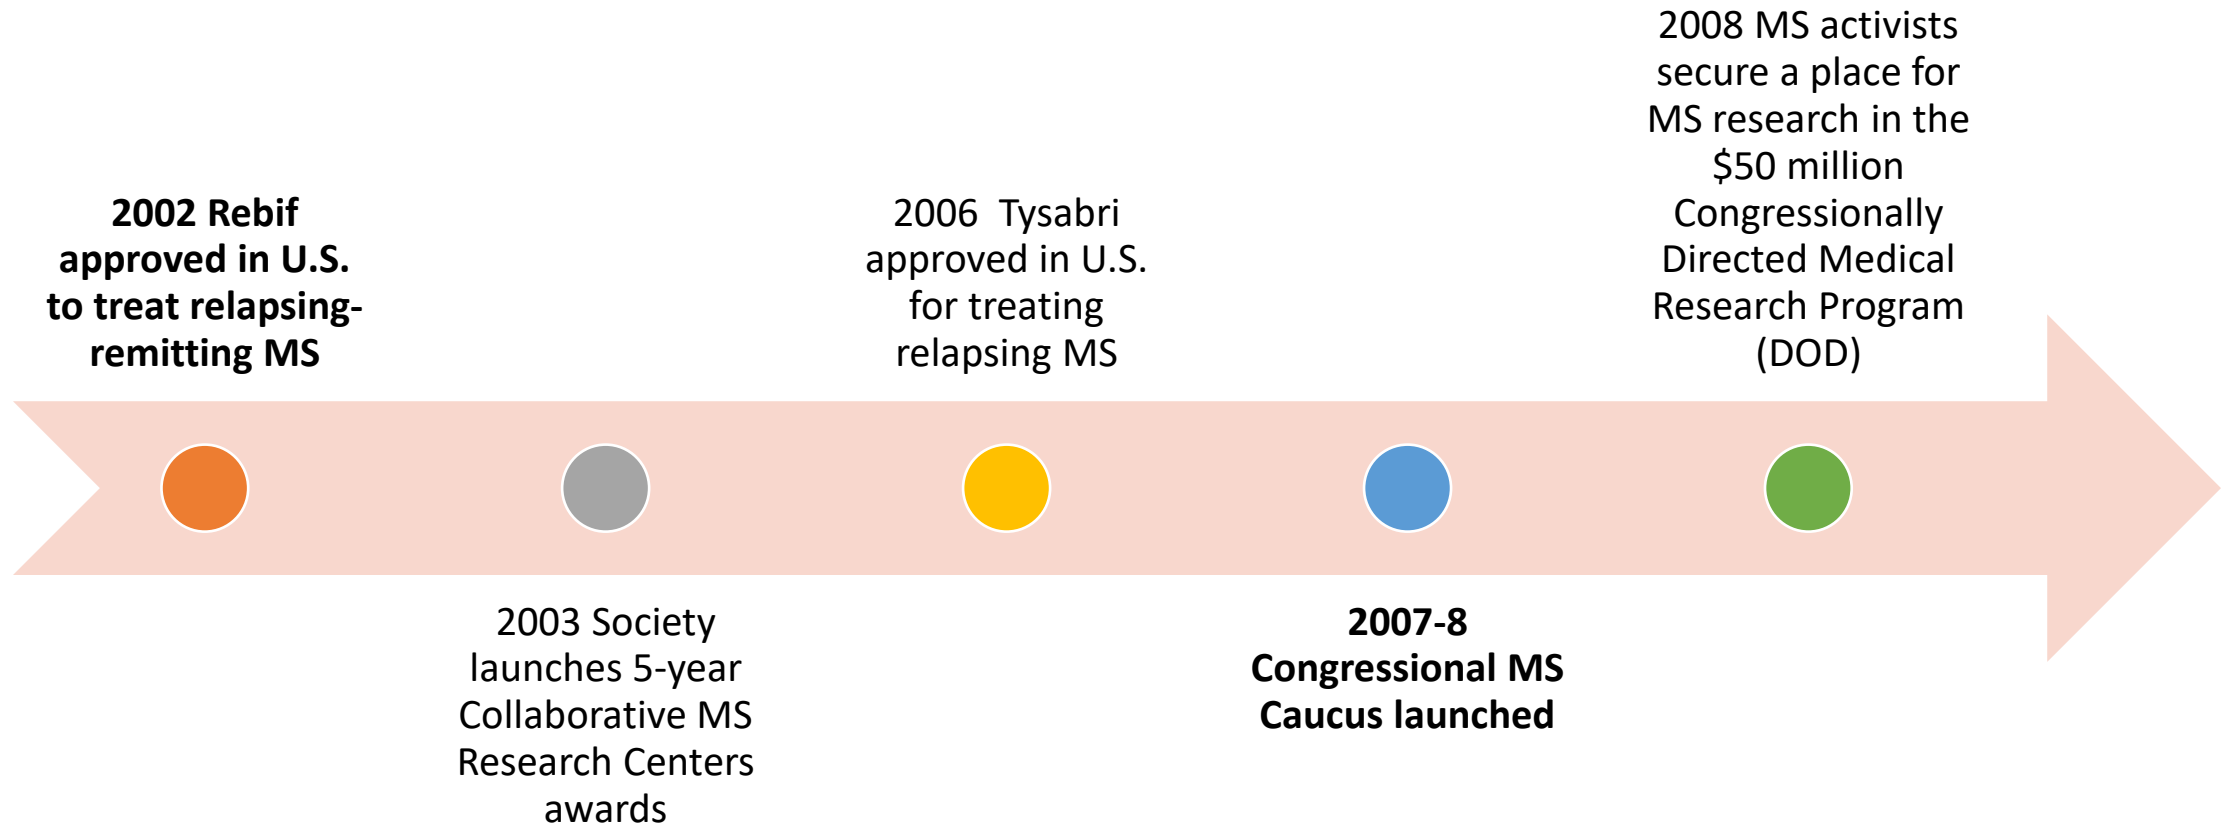

1996 Society develops international consensus on 4 clinical descriptions of MS (relapsing-remitting, secondary-progressive, primary-progressive and progressive-relapsing)

1997 Sylvia Lawry Physician Fellowships established to train doctors in conducting clinical trials in MS

1996 Avonex and Copaxone approved for relapsing-remitting MS; the Society funded early basic research underlying both therapies

1998 Society launches targeted research initiative into gender differences in MS and in 2001 partners with NIH on $20 million research initiative exploring gender-based differences

Tempo

Category HC Big Impacts

2009 Society holds first-ever Tykeson Fellows Conference to stimulate collaboration and strengthen the commitment of bright young people to MS research

2012 Launch of International Progressive MS Alliance to speed the development of therapies

2017 FDA approves Ocrevus (ocrelizumab) as first disease-modifying therapy for primary progressive MS, and also as a therapy for relapsing MS

2010 Gilenya, first oral disease-modifying therapy for MS, approved for relapsing forms

2013 Society commits $2.5 million to support the Network of Pediatric MS Centers to provide essential infrastructure to facilitate research

Downhill Gaining speed

2019 A study sponsored by the National MS Society estimates that nearly 1 million adults are living with MS in the U.S., more than twice the previously reported number

2022 Society-funded researchers at Harvard published the strongest evidence yet that the common Epstein-Barr virus (EBV) can trigger MS when other risk factors are present

2022 Pathways to MS Cures research roadmap is published and gains global endorsement

2024 New targets and tools continue to be developed. Choroid plexus and well-being highlighted at ACTRIMS conference
