Youth Villages is a national leader in mental and behavioral health committed to finding the most effective solutions to help children, families and young adults overcome obstacles and live successfully. Working through direct services, partnerships with other high-performing agencies and advocacy, we collaborate to bring positive change to child welfare, children's mental health and justice systems. Our 4,000 employees serve more than 39,000 children and young adults in more than 100 locations in 24 states and D.C. Youth Villages has been recognized by the Harvard Business School and U.S. News & World Report and was identified by The White House as one of the nation's most promising results-oriented nonprofit organizations.

An average of 5,000 children are in Oregon's foster care system on any given day, and thousands more children and youth with severe mental and behavioral challenges are on the verge of being displaced from their homes. Additionally, 300 foster youth in Oregon will age out of foster care and into adulthood without the support, resources or guidance of a stable family or network of caring adults in their lives.

The time is now to invest in our state's families
and youth.

We must grow
stronger, together.
